Empowering young people toward a sustainable, creative and engaged future

Who are we?
Youth4Planet is an organization dedicated to education for sustainable development and media literacy, known for its innovative pedagogical formats. We work with schools, secondary education, youth centers and educational institutions across Luxembourg. Our activities are under patronage by the Ministry of the Environment.

Our mission:
To equip young people with the tools to understand today's global challenges, develop critical thinking and creativity, and become authors of solutions in a world in transition.

What we bring to your school

- Workshops tailored to school curricula and the specific context of each class
- An interdisciplinary approach combining science, languages, geography, citizenship education, digital and visual arts
- An active, inclusive and collaborative pedagogy rooted in the principles of Education for Sustainable Development (ESD)
- Formats that support differentiated teaching and student engagement

Our formats of intervention

- One-time workshops or project cycles
  Held during or outside of school hours – storytelling, video creation, SDG-related exploration, debates, investigations...
- Creative challenges and hackathons
  To encourage problem-solving, teamwork and social innovation
- Cross-school projects and collective events
  Bringing students together around shared issues, promoting collaboration and highlighting their achievements
- Support for teaching teams
  Co-design of projects, educational resources, in-class facilitation or support for curriculum integration

A collaboration built together

Each intervention is designed in close dialogue with the teaching team. We adapt content, formats, themes and duration to the needs of teachers and students. All activities are free of charge for schools, thanks to public support.

A learning ecosystem for the future

Youth4Planet is developing an innovative educational ecosystem that combines storytelling, participatory challenges, encounters with changemakers, mobile and digital tools. Our goal is to foster a living system of learning, driven by cooperation, creativity and real-world transformation.
